Teachers Strike Out
(on their own)

Can you imagine the unrestrained joy of any student after being told that he doesn't have to go back to school in September? That is the kind of reaction most of us had this year, when the teachers' strike threatened to prevent school from starting on time. At least, so said the rumours circulating at the end of August.

Then, the parents received a letter from the school board which explained the problem, but sounded very optimistic about school beginning on time.

When September 3 finally rolled around, students were congregating around T.V. sets to hear the fatal news... yes, there would be school Tuesday. So, we all came to school as usual, and mothers everywhere breathed a sigh of relief. But our surprises weren't over yet.

When we arrived at school, we discovered that there would be no attendance taken and no books would be issued. Needless to say, many snatched the opportunity and didn't go to class at all.

Wednesday morning, after waking up early to get ready to catch the bus, most students leapt eagerly blanket-wards after hearing that the teachers were now locked out! We were beginning to feel like pawns in a chess game - not having any power to do anything, but being moved about just the same.

So passed Wednesday and Thursday. Rumour had it that we would be out of school for at least 3 weeks while the teachers and the board battled it out. No such luck. An agreement was reached on Thursday night, and Friday the 7th found us back behind the desks, this time to stay.

Our Team is Tops

The K.C.S.S. "Reach for the Top" team consists of Kevin Harper, Chris Dohle, Sean McKenna, and Sharon Wilson. They have climbed up the ladder towards "The Top" by defeating teams from all over the district in the demanding quiz show, "Reach for the Top". They have won the Regional and are going on to the Provincials in March. It's a demanding form of extracurricular activity, but as staff advisor Mr. Allen put it, "It certainly is paying off!" Congradulations team!

Newspaper News

This has been the second year in the operation of King's first student newspaper since the apathetic years of the mid-seventies. Production hasn't been flawless, the major obstacle being getting the staff organized. However, Newspeak workers have made enormous progress in learning how to create a concise, informative current affairs capsule with flair and vigour. When you compare the quality of the newspaper with the small size and relative inexperience of its writers you can logically conclude that these earnest journalists cannot be symbolic of a generation which has been labelled "the Me Generation". In fact, if you visit a meeting of the Newspeak staff you will probably be impressed with the sincerity and high amount of energy they put into their work. This year Newspeak has been a pleasure to read.

The Sound of Music

The student radio is a new King City Secondary School feature. The radio station, CKCR(sm)--no one will tell what "sm" stands for--is not real live radio, but rather a service to the students. It is broadcast over the public address system before school hours, after school hours, and at appropriate special events. The station has a studio in that part of the school unknown to many, above Gym 3. The radio station functions as a promoting, advertising, and information service, as well as playing music.

--Tom Nielsen

Students Air Views

On Friday October 26,at 10:00 in the evening, two KCSS students were on a Youth Forum program, hosted by CFGM Radio. The topic of their discussion was, The Right of Teachers to Strike, and the student were Katrina Schmitz and Tom Neilson, both of grade 13. Both Tom and Katrina did a great job in answering and commenting on the questions and opinions brought to the program by the kids from various schools that were calling in.

Mellow Dramatics

1979 was an important year for the performing arts at King. It marked the first play production by a drama club in "recorded history". Although some doubts were raised by a few thespians before the play went on, these were obliterated by the thunderous applause of the three consecutive audiences. The play was "THE MONKEY'S PAW", a well written suspense-drama. Many patrons expressed a desire to see more of this type of function put on at the school. If all goes well, "THE PRIVATE EAR", a British comedy-drama will go on next fall. Hopefully this is the beginning of a K. C. S. S. tradition.

Advice from 13's

1) Thou shalt not copy thy neighbour's work. Let them copy it for you.

2) Thou shalt not tear school books. Burn them and destroy the evidence.

3) Thou shalt not flunk in June. Avoid the rush, flunk in March.

4) Thou shalt not skip classes. Take the whole day off.

5) Thou shalt not drive teachers to their graves. Let them take their own cars.

6) Thou shalt not push in the halls. Tripping is faster.

7) Thou shalt not throw erasers. Pencils are harder and much more to the point.

8) Thou shalt not drive into students. Wait until the teachers come.

9) Thou shalt not snuggle in the halls. The furnace room is darker.

10) Thou shalt not whisper in the classes. Shouting attracts more attention.

King's Royalty

Friday, October 12, a student at K.C.S.S. attained a highly honoured position. Barb James, of 13, was crowned York County Dairy Princess. The competition was held at a dance in the Newmarket Community Center, and was attended by dairy farmers from all across York.

In August of next summer Barb will compete for this same honour at the C.N.E.

The Supreme Command

All of the grade nines fearfully anticipated the day when all of the "niners", would be forced to obey the "Supreme Command." On initiation morning the '79-'80 graduating classes came striding in carrying a colourful array of whips, loudspeakers, and hats. After the routine morning announcements, they came to decorate our faces with lipstick nines, mustaches, and captions such as, "minor niner." Afterwards we proceeded to our first classes to drop off our books, and then to the assembly. We were herded unmercifully into the gym and were bombarded with shaving cream, whipped cream, and marker nines. Immediately following this we were crammed into the change rooms and were made to put on our clothes inside out and backwards, to make recognition of us easier for our lunch hours. Following this we were paraded outside where the Thirteens performed various ceremonies in which we were forced to participate.

If you think they were nice enough to leave us alone after that, you are wrong! At lunch time we were forced to eat the, "day's special" consisting of baby food, pablum, mushed bananas, etc.

After lunch everything went back to normal and we "niners," were officially considered as a part of the KCSS student body.

PEOPLE

Narcolepsy Strikes

Early in the morning it runs rampant through the halls of K.C.S.S., sriking everyone from teachers to unsuspecting grade nines, from the most diligent student, to the avides: partier. By the middle of December symptoms are everywhere. Staggering, paleness, muscle weakness, blurred vision, impared hearing, and heaviness in the limbs make it close to impossible to conduct first period classes. Students are near to collapse. Parents start to worry. Younger brothers and sisters hope its not contageous. The principal sits back and wonders, "What can be done about narcolepsy?" Mr. Henderson looks "narcolepsy" up in the dictionary and finds it is "a condition characterized by an uncontrollable desire for, and short attacks of sleep..." but that doesn't make it any easier to bear.

Runners Using L.S.D.

I heard it whispered in the halls, murmured in the Library and even babbled in the Caf. I heard that the secret of K.C.S.S.'s dynamic running duo of Ulrike Zugelder's and Janie Edwards' enormous success has been attributed -partially at least- to the use of L.S.D. during training! I had to confirm my suspicion.

I decided to needle their coach for information. I asked their coach, Mr. Chvalevich, if Ms. Edwards and Ms. Zugelder were using any special training techniques. He replied,"They are on a system of hard day, easy day, hard day, easy day, and so on. On a hard day they will do, for example, hills; on an easy day they will run about three or four miles. (If that's easy)... And oh yes, about once a week they do an L.S.D. run." So, it was true, K.C.S.S.'s cross-country heroines were running in a state of ethereality.

I was shocked. "But isn't Lysergic Acid Diethylanide illegal?" I finally submitted, voicing my preoccupation.

The hysterical confusion on my face melted as he explained that L.S.D. stood for Long Slow Distances. I was engulfed by a wave of embarrassment.

The rest of what he said started sinking in and I asked the obvious question: Why? Why the gruelling hours spent in training, at least 3-4 miles a day for seven days a week and 10 miles every weekend.

Is the whole cross-country team possessors of masochistic tendencies? Janie and Ulrike collaborate on their answer. "We like being physically fit enough to do any type of physical activity, we don't like being inactive, and we get a sense of accomplishment from running."

Their coach reflected on the companionistic benefits of being a cross-country runner. "Besides the fitness aspect, there is a good social aspect involved with the cross-country team."

This year Ulrike placed first and Janie placed fourth in the York County race. At the Georgian Bay meet, Ulrike was third and Janie came fourth. Out of all Ontario's Junior Girls, Ulrike placed fifty-ninth and Janie sixtieth, in a gruelling three kilometre race. In track last year they shattered two school records each and Ulrike proceeded to attain a great finish in the All Ontario Finals.

Interviews with Coaches

HOW DID THE TEAM PROGRESS THROUGH THE YEAR?

Junior Football: The most improved team in the league in years. We had the best quarterback, running back, flanker and defense in the league.
-Mr. Ellison-

When you start out with a bunch of rookies and lose twice to Markham one with a score of 45-0; and then you lose 8-6 in the York Championships you know your team has progressed
-Mr. Serjeantson-

Boy's Volleyball: Not very well
-Mr. Keizerwaard-

Boy's Basketball: Very well
-Mr. Keizerwaard-

SPORTS

Senior Girl's Volleyball: Steady improvement

-Mr. Bonham-

Baseball: Steady improvement

-Mr. Bonham-

WHAT ARE THE MAJOR FRUSTRATIONS OR REWARDS FROM COACHING?

I get frustrated seeing players make the same mistakes over and over again, however, it is tremendously rewarding to watch players succeed.--Mr. Keizerwaard

This year it was rewarding to see our tremendous passing game. Unfortunately we had a poor running game due to poor offensive blocking.--Mr. Serjeantson

It was frustrating because of the lack of gym time, but I had good support with the students.--Mr. Bonham

DO YOU USE ANY SPECIAL PRACTISE TECHNIQUES?

I find out in drills who possesses intestinal fortitude.--Mr. Serjeantson

T.L.C. (Tender Loving Care)--Mr. Bonham

WHAT DO YOU DO TO PLAYERS THAT GOOF OFF?

Cut them--Unanimous!

ANY MAGICAL SORE MUSCLE REMEDIES?

No, sore muscles are all part of sports and hard work. I want my players to have them.--Mr. Ellison

Gentle exercise--Mr. Bonham

Exercise--Mr. Serjeantson

Do the exercise again!--Mr. Keizerwaard

Girls' Field Hockey - 1979

This year was not too successful when it came to winning. We played 8 regular season games and the closest we came to winning was a tie score of 0-0 with Newmarket.

However, the one game that we did win was against Langstaff at a tournament held at Thornhill. The score was 1-0. We also played against Bayview but they won 4-1.

Maybe we didn't have a great season but we sure had a lot of fun. Remember the time we waited all night for the taxis at Aurora girls? Or the time they took us to Williams instead of Aurora? Or how about the time we played the K.C.S.S. mud bowl? (Remember the mud Betty?) Yes, I would say we had fun.

Another highlight was the goalie clinic held at Bayview. This was attended by the team's two goalies Teresa Duggan and Susan Tipple.

Captain Rosanne McGuire was proud of her team. There were a few seasoned pros like Brenda Orser and Miriam Hunter, but we also had some promising rookies like Lauren Macey and Kim Jenkinson.

I STOLE A NEWSPAPER TODAY

I used to live on a mountain
I didn't buy the mountain because I really didn't believe that the Man who owned it, actually built it.

One day, I stopped cavorting in the woods with my friends
And looked to see a group of loggers
Coming...
They scraped my mountain clean.

Now, my mountain's bald, and all my friends are gone
I'll miss them singing, romping and quietly
Lapping spring water on a silent, clear night.

And so I stole a paper today.
What was left of my poor trees
793 pages, telling me where
To buy what, and each one of them
the same.
There was a bit for me to read
First was news, they say
And so I'll read my paper today
To forget about my mountain.

EVERYONE WANTS TO BE A MILLIONAIRE

Cut your hair.
Shave your face.
Get a job,
Or you'll never amount
To a pin's head above a beggar.

How many pin heads are there
Between J.Paul Getty and a beggar?

Beggars are sad because they've no Money.
J.Paul Getty is happy because he has Enough pin heads to keep him busy
Counting for the rest of his life.

FASHIONS AND FADS AND FASHIONS AND FADS AND FASHIONS FADS AND FASHIONS AND FADS AND FASHIONS AND FADS AND

Anybody remember Hoola-hoops and gold-fish swallowing? Probably not. They went the way of Love-beads and the Flower Children. In 1979 and 80', we experienced variations on themes. Disco became Disco-Rollerskating, Marlon Brando's traditional T-Shirt grew letters on the front. Mickey Mouse and Snoopy were big in the early Seventies, but 1979 was definitely the Year of the Muppet. Kermit and Miss Piggy ruled supreme. The Pink Panther's popularity continued as Peter Sellers played the immortal Inspector Clouseau, for the fifth time.
Short hair was in. Mini-skirts were supposed to make a comeback even though nobody wanted them to. Punk became New-Wave. Perrier and Lime replaced Beer (Oh really?)...suddenly there were straight leg pants and bright, BRIGHT colours. Spiked heels added inches to just about everybody's height. Blazers with jeans... Art Deco pins... hair combs, in 57 different colours..... Burger King, Harvey's, and Wendy's were doing it your way,... but then nobody can do it like McDonald's can. For those with a finer palate there's always Granola and Yogourt. Thankyou very much, Milk!...
Did you take the Pepsi challenge?.... Hang-gliding and dirt bikes threatened to replace skateboards...but then the hospital bills are about the same. Whatever happened to frisbees?
I think they were replaced by psy-chedelic sweatshirts...

A Closer Look at Election Candidates

The grade twelves and thirteens gathered in the gym on February 5, 1980, to get a closer look at the candidates for the February federal election. Diane Kilcoyne was chairperson and Kathie Skippon, Doug Willson, Sean Macey, and Sharon Wilson asked penetrating questions from the panel. A survey conducted covering one quarter of the students who attended the meeting showed some interesting results. Before the meeting the Progressive Conservatives represented by Sinclair Stevens had 30% support, the Liberals represented by Wally Harkness had 17% support, the New Democratic Party represented by John Hall had 28% of the vote. No one supported the Libertarian candidate, Gary Anstett, and 25% of the students were undecided. Unfortunately the Rhinocerous candidate, Mark Oliver could not attend. After the meeting 36% of the undecided wanted to vote P.C. and 21% supported the N.D.P. The other 43% remained undecided.

Well Versed

Silence

The first flake fell from the winter sky
And drifted to the ground with a gentle sigh
As I wrapped the covers tighter around my head
And snuggled still deeper in my cozy bed.

The silence was unreal, there was a buzzing in my ears
And the wonder of nature took away
all my fears
As I listened to the tinkling of the chimes in the breeze
And the moan of the wind as it sailed through the trees.

But I was soon fast asleep, in the world of my dreams
And all was so real, or, at least,
so it seemed
A prince, fair and handsome, led me away by the hand
And took me to the edge of The Promised Land.

Then I looked down below on a city
of gold
Not believing my eyes such a sight
could behold
I drew in my breath, and stood still and stared
If I had died on the spot, I couldn't have cared

"I brought you here tonight for a reason, my dear
And the reason is that which you cannot hear."
And looking towards me as he turned his fair head
"Silence is Golden," is all that he said

Returned from my dreams, I awoke
with a start
With the realization deep down in my heart
That absolute quiet could never occur
For silence is a feeling that can never be heard.

Kathie Skippon

An Ode to Chemistry

On this piece of paper
I write a simple verse
You may think Math is boring
But Chemistry is worse.
Density confuses me
And molar mass is hard
A metre is a measurement
How many in a yard?
The many times I've wondered what Bouyant force is equal to
I remember what the teacher said
Apparent less than true
Now the only problem
That now occurs to me
Is mainly to determine
What apparent mass can be.
A sideward glance will tell me
The mass is twenty two
The next chore to accomplish
Is "What the hell is true".
The time is almost over
I look across at Bri
Her snores are getting louder
What can the answer be?
This is a form of torture
With sadism combined
My only main conclusion is
That Chemistry's unkind.

Valedictorian Speech

Twelve, or possibly thirteen years of formal schooling have drawn to a close for those of us being honoured tonight. There is nothing to show physically for this but a square of fragile paper. What has been excised from the past years by each individual is not common to all, and cannot be represented physically. Those that think such a document is a licence to claim you are learned are wrong; it is not.

The goal of this institution is not to turn out educated men and women; that takes a lifetime. It's design is to open minds a little, create some intelligent skepticism, and to show the worthiness of pursuing truth. The American bard Emerson once said that,"the things taught in schools and colleges are not an education, but the means of an education". Those that have spent the past few years working like mad, only for the purpose of attaining their diploma, have really missed out on something; the opportunity to start some voyage of discovery, with the destination being yourself.

Our high school years roll around at a most exciting and frightening time. It is here we break from childhood and enter the reality of adulthood. We are different people now, not the confused, excited children that entered these halls for the first time in what, surprisingly perhaps, does not seem like such a long time ago.

Along with our changes, others also changed. This graduate class saw a refreshing change in the administration and also it's philosophy of the student body. No longer were we "just students", but respected individuals. Likewise, no longer was it "them", the staff, against "us", the students.

Whether we appreciated it or not, the past few years have provided a unique experience some might not have again. Suddenly, we were thrust into a situation where we were confronted with over a thousand ideas and opinions, each representing a unique individual. This graduating class is one of the largest ever at King, so there were even more diverse opinions to be affected by. There are problems with such large class sizes but this class was unified and colourful despite its size, and provided memorable moments. Junior initiation was re-introduced this year, and we,as seniors had the chance for one day to completely dominant another person. To cajole, intimidate, and strike fear in their hopeless souls as they did our bidding, in short, to be like English teachers for a whole day.

A newspaper was born, and a forum for intelligent debate finally opened. Few may have had the ambition to write, but the opportunity was there. In a sense, this reflects our schooling. The opportunities are here, but it was, or for those still here, is up to the individual to reach out and take hold.

King was once again prominent in acedemics and sports. (A budding new star was discovered in a rookie rugbier). Whether you wish to believe it or not, King has very high standards and a reputation for acedemic excellence.

There were scandals this year, bad times of course, but the good times triumph most surely.

Some would tell us that the future is not bright. This may be true. We are living in a world torn apart and heavy with strife. The graduates of today must someday fill the senior posts in society. Look around, you may be sitting near a future Prime Minister, or history-making scientist. Whoever fills such positions, we can only hope they do not sacrifice their ideals and integrity for some temporary material gain and forget how vital their stature really is. At any rate, we can only wonder about the future, as we grads surely are tonight.

Some may not think so, but this school has been successful in its objective; to turn people towards the rest of their life, and their education. The large turnout tonight is evidence of peoples wanting to move on. Be sad, if you wish, because this time has ended. There is surely justification for sad feelings, as we may never see some of us gathered here tonight ever again. Do not though, be afraid for the future, but stand up high and move in.

We need not be overly thankful to this building itself, but the things it represents; the opportunity for us to meet, to argue, to love, laugh and of course, be silly; to discover each other, and part of ourselves; Thank you.

--Mike M^{c}Fadden

Commencement

On the evening of Friday, November 2nd, Senior Commencement was held. The event went smoothly, even though it was lengthy and the number of people attending was substantial. The York County Board of Education proficiency prizes went to: Chrisa Psimoulis, Tim Bernard and Shelly Anderson for grade twelve, and to Yvonne Schleehan for grade thirteen. School letters, a publicized award, went to: Catherine Long, Sandra Phillips, Shelly Winter, and Joan Keene, who all received Junior letters while Maria Castel and Bruce Pitkin received Senior letters. The Valedictorian was Michael McFadden. The KCSS Symphonic band and Mr. Mulcahey provided musical entertainment for the evening.

Even in the quietest moments

Thu Hang Le Anh Hang Le Nghia Phan Nghe Le

Movin'

I hope you've all had a chance to meet the newcomers to King City! I'm speaking about our newcomers from Vietnam, namely Anh Hang Le, Thu Hang Le, Nghia Phan, Nuff Trinh, Thua Ho and Nghe Le. These cheerful students have been in Canada less than a year and already their command of the English language is remarkable. Although life in Indo-China is very different from life in Canada, the school system is very much the same. Thu Hang Le tells us that relatively the same subjects are studied, but that the course of studies is more difficult in Vietnam. As well, the daily and weekly time spent at school is much greater there.

All six Vietnamese enjoy life in Canada and the freedom they have here. One factor they dislike, is Canada's cold weather! They are very willing to adapt to the weather, though, and to many other Canadian aspects of living. We wish them luck and warmly welcome them to our school.

So ends the fourth year of Mr. Muir's career as Vice-Principal at King. Unfortunately, he will not be joining us for a fifth year. Mr. Muir's fine abilities in leadership and responsibility have been recognized and a well-earned promotion places him as Principal in Stouffville.

Mr. Muir regrets leaving King and the friendly atmosphere he found here. However, as an athlete, Mr. Muir looks at his promotion as a step in his struggle to reach the top and becoming the best person he can be.

Congratulations, Mr. Muir, and best of luck in your new position.

On

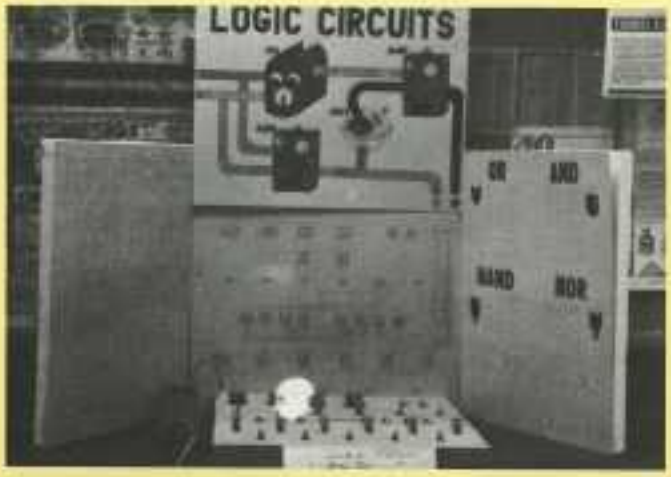
Mr. Keizerwaard has been teaching at King for four years in the math and science departments and was also the coach of basketball and volleyball teams. Next year he will take over the family business of Deemac Furniture in Aurora. He feels that in life there are certain decisions that have to be made and this is one of them. We're all sorry to see him leave but we're sure he'll succeed wherever he goes!

Ms Lindsay is taking a year's leave of absence off for travel and study. She hopes to be out west until Christmas and early January will find her in Spain, Greece and France. Fortunately, she will be back in the year 1981-82. We hope she has a most fulfilling and enjoyable time!

Mr. Truax has been at K.C.S.S. for nine years as head of our English department. Unfortunately, this year he has been transferred. Our loss will be Dr. G.W. Williams gain.

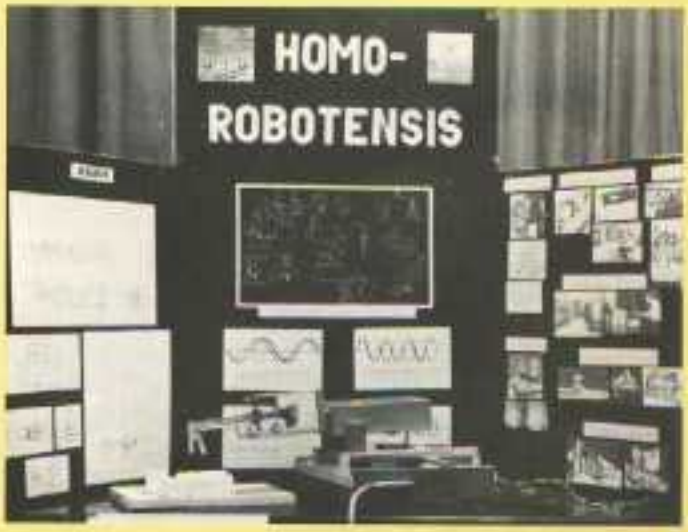
Mr. Truax has enjoyed his past years here but is looking forward to the challenges that await him at a new school. The challenges won't be too overwhelming, as he feels that students everywhere are of the same basic nature.

"Teaching is my first love and I hope that I will never forget how much I have enjoyed the experience, and how much I have learned from my students. Anybody, staff or student, who comes to King will likely meet very pleasant experiences. As its model suggests, and as I believe, K.C.S.S. is 'always progressing!'"



Science Fair

Congratulations to all you hard working students who participated in this year's science fair. Among the winners were: Jaimie Darker and Robbie Bass, Mark Zugelder, Ulrike Zugelder, Stephen Murray, Jim McLaughlin, Frank Attisano, Camille Loucks, Richard Konop, Keith Morris, Ed Ballard, Sharon Tomlinson, Stephen Smith, and Michele Hazledine. A special congratulations to Jim McLaughlin for placing in the top four projects in all of York County. He was chosen to represent York County in the Canada - Wide Science Fair in Manitoba.



"At the beginning of the school year I decided to enter the Science Fair with an experiment I had done which investigated the possible effects of various .60 hertz sonic treatments on green beans. I never thought that I would be chosen to represent York County in the Canada Wide Science Fair, and I was very surprised when in fact, I was chosen. The fair took place in Thompson Manitoba during the month of May. While in Thompson, we were taken on tours of INCO, a fishing trip, tours of a power plant, and many other interesting places. The trip was a great experience, and I sure wouldn't mind being chosen to represent York County in a future Canada-Wide Science Fair!"

Prom

This year's prom was held at the luxurious Westbury Hotel. The beautiful setting and large turn-out of students made the evening a most enjoyable and successful one.

One of the highlights of the evening was the choosing of the Prom Queen. Congratulations to Kim Fiedler (at left) a bright and beautiful queen.

A special thanks to Kim Fiedler for her photographs of the Prom.

Bike-a-thon
Run-a-thon

The annual K.C.S.S. bike-a-thon run-a-thon was a great success! Word has it that enthusiastic participation made this event our #1 money-raiser this year. Neither the sweltering hot weather, nor dynamically exciting classes deterred students from trudging and pedalling to the finish line. It was a beautiful day and enjoyed by all! Among the winners were John Ciniglio in the bike-a-thon, and Ulrike Zugelder in the run-a-thon.
